EASTER DINNER IS INTERRUPTED BY FIRE IN KITCHEN ROOF

[By Special Correspondent.]
Monroe, April 7.—An Easter dinner was interrupted at the home of Louis Trickle, near the old camp grounds, Sunday, while the guests left the table to put out a fire in the kitchen part of the house. Due to the large number gathered at the home and the aid of neighbors who came to assist, only one-half of the roof of the kitchen part was burned away. It was impossible to get at the fire through the walls and attempts to put it out from the roof were resorted to. It was found to have a fairly good start and required some fast work. Mr. Trickle, while helping to extinguish the fire, fell from the roof 15 feet to the cement sidewalk, crushing his left foot.

Jack Smith and Francis O'Donnell, two school chums, will have to save their seats and miss a few movie shows until they square a loss sustained through an accident on Easter Sunday. The lads were scuffling on the south side of the square about 4:30 Sunday afternoon and pressed against the plate glass window of the Rose Zweibel millinery store, breaking the window. The damage was complete, and an entire new glass, costing about $125 to install, is needed. Damage of about $5.50 was caused to the millinery articles on display being cut by the glass. Smith sustained a small cut in the back of the hand and a slight cut in the arm. The fall completely through the window.

Grinan Lichtenwalner, a well known resident of this city, brother of the late Albert and Valentine Lichtenwalner, died at the home of his sister, Montana Lichtenwalner, East Liberty street at 2:30 Sunday.

He was stricken with paralysis as he reached home Saturday night about 6 o'clock, and on Sunday apoplexy developed which brought about his death less than 24 hours after the attack. He was born at Elmton, Penn., 63 years ago and came to America with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lichtenwalner, who were a year old. He has lived here ever since. He was for many years employed with his brother, Albert, and at the time of death was employed by Elrick Bros. He is survived by a brother and three sisters. Funeral services will be held Wednesday.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Jacob Wittwer, a well known and wealthy farmer in Rice township near Beloitville, who ended his life Saturday by shooting himself with a shot gun. Temporary mental derangement was thought to be the cause of his act. Mr. Wittwer had a severe attack of influenza and pneumonia last winter from which he never fully recovered and had been on several previous occasions to take his ax. The shooting occurred between 6 and 7 o'clock Saturday morning. He went to the barn about 6 o'clock and at 7 o'clock when he had not returned and the morning meal was prepared his wife stepped to the door and called. She repeated her call several times and then went to the barn to find his lifeless body lying on the floor and his shot gun lying beside him.

Mr. Wittwer was one of the early pioneers of this county. He was 64 years old and remained on the old homestead in Washington township until he married. His wife died and he married again. There are six children from each marriage surviving him. He is also survived by his wife, three brothers and four sisters. Three of the sisters reside in this city. Mrs. Jacob Regaz, Rudy Regaz, and Mrs. J. T. Etter.

Owing to a strike of switchmen at the terminals of both the central and Milwaukee roads, no stock is being shipped over those lines from here to Chicago. A few cars are being shipped today, but even these shipments are made at a risk to shippers.

CLEVELAND SIX

Take a Real Ride in the Cleveland, and You'll Know What a Car It Is

The Cleveland Six, the sensation of the year among light sixes, is selling itself to thousands who use discrimination in picking out the car they want.

To attempt to describe the qualities of the Cleveland Six is no easy task. You must ride in it to know it. Take a real ride and you begin to understand that here is a better light six, very much better. It has an enclosed over-head valve motor, of exclusive Cleveland design and manufacture and tested in road work for three years before being offered the public, that gives performance unsurpassed.

A real ride will show you, better than can be told you, that the Cleveland has power and pick-up and flexibility and ease of driving that do not come with many other cars. Low-hung spring suspension and splendidly upholstered cushions wipe out the road-bumps. Beautiful body lines place the Cleveland above the usual plane in appearance. Upholstery is of genuine hand-buffed leather.

Come let us show you what a car the Cleveland is

PAPKE CASE JURY
SAYS, HOLD DRIVER

Connors Disregarded Human Life and Is Guilty of Reckless Driving, Jurors Hold.

Declaring for the holding of Earl Connors on charges of reckless driving and that he was guilty of evading responsibility and disregard for human life in the driving away without inquiry or stopping after striking the boy the coroner's jury investigating the death of Harold Papke, 5 year old son of Otto Papke, manager of the Grand hotel, today cleared the way for any action state cares to take against Connors.

The inquest was of short duration. No new evidence in addition to that offered at the first session of the jury was obtained.

Mrs. Grace McNilly, Jeffries' flat, testified of seeing the Papke laid playing in the street and looked after her son Ernest Edwards, Ashland Ave., practically reiterated the evidence Beloit girls subpoenaed for the case could offer nothing new from that already secured and although they were in the municipal court room they were not called to the stand.

Connors retains his freedom on $300 bail. His examination on a charge of reckless driving is set for April 16, a week from Friday.

Dist. Atty. S. G. Dunwiddie said that the young man may also be held in the charge of failure to stop and give his name and address or the name of the owner of the car after the accident. The penalty is by maximum fine of $1,000 or not more than a term of two years.

Members of the jury were Ben W.
Smith, Geo. J. King, George C. Olin, and Robert R. Conway.

LENNARTZ WINS FOR CITY TREASURER

L. J. Cronin, present incumbent. A total of 168 votes were cast, the biggest vote in any ward.

Another great surprise was sprung in the third ward where the representative in the council for two years, was noted out by George L. Traver, although Fautz was conceded to have a light on his side. It was not generally predicted possible he would be left behind.

Traver collected 309, and Fautz 296.
Traver a majority being 13.

J. J. Dulin won out by 55 votes over J. P. Fitch in the fifth ward, returning to his seat in the council for the eighth term. Dulin was given 216 votes and his opponent, 161.

The tabulated votes for city
treasurer and councilmen follow:

FREIGHT HANDLING
FACILITIES HERE

Acquisition of the Rumrill tobacco warehouse on Foster avenue has doubled the facilities for the handling of freight here by the Chicago and Northwestern railway. The warehouse has been connected to the old freight house by a wide loading platform which is completely covered overhead.

Announcement made by Alva Hermans, Northwestern agent, is that the Rumrill building will be utilized for all freight outgoing shipments while the old building will be used as the source of discharge for business coming into Janesville.

It is expected that the new plan will be effective early next week.
"Our business has increased by leaps and bounds in the last two years," said Mr. Hermans. "We have been working under bad conditions for a long while. The Rum-rill building will practically relieve increase of business predicted for

REBEL UPRISING IS FACED IN GUTEMALA

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, April 7.—Benton Mc-Millan, United States minister to Guatemala, has issued a proclamation to the people of that country stating that in view of the guarantees of constitutional rights made by President Estorero Cabrera, the American government "firmly believes there is no cause for starting a revo-

This was the first intimation to reach the public here that a revolutionary uprising was threatened in Guatemala. Copies of Mr. McMillan's proclamation together with that of a proclamation issued by President Cabrera were received today in Washington. President Cabrera pledged his administration to insure

FORWARD, JANESVILLE!

To make Janesville a better place in which to live and in which to do business, the Gazette pledges itself to work for and support these things:

Housing survey to discourage exorbitant rents; encouragement of building more houses; appraisal of property values so that rent payments may be made to pay the increased amount of taxes.

Open roads in the country 365 days of the year; better roads generally; and support of the road building plan; better streets and more paved streets in the city.

A market pavilion in the city which may also be used for many other purposes by farmers and livestock producers.

A community building to be used for auditorium, sport events, meetings, rest rooms, and also as a fitting meeting place for soldiers.

Open the churches seven days a week and stop economic waste in room and time. Make basements meeting places for the young, and provide gymnasium facilities.

Build a real home for the girls who come here to work.

Open the fair grounds this year as a recreation park with tennis courts and other play apparatus. Establish parks and playgrounds.

Better the street car service as population increases.

THE CITY ELECTION.

With no disparagement of her opponent the city is to be congratulated on the election of Mrs. Fred Sutherland as a member of the board of education. Her very large vote is a compliment to her and to the women of the city. It will be noticed also that the vote for her came in a greater proportion from men than from women voters. The place of women in educational matters has long been conceded, and Mrs. Sutherland will undoubtedly take her place as an efficient member of the school board. This was the one big feature of the city election.

WHERE MR. COX IS LAME, ON TAXATION.

Governor James Cox, of Ohio, believes in the peace treaty just as it was written; in the league of nations without reservations, and in a moderately wet condition of alcoholic liquor enforcement. It is claimed that the mantle of the president more nearly fits Mr. Cox than any other candidate. The democratic party has never had a candidate from Ohio, and as that state helped elect Pres. Wilson on his "He-kept-us-out-of-the-war" platform, Cox ought to be as strong a candidate as has so far been picked by democrats.

But there is one place where Mr. Cox is lame. One of the principles enunciated by him is the repeal of the excess profits tax and the substitution of a small tax on volume of business. He claims that this plan will raise all the revenue needed, say about $4,000,000,000. This program will be satisfactorily hailed by everyone who pays an excess profits tax, and Mr. Cox would have no trouble on such a platform to raise a campaign fund. The transfer of taxation from wealth to population by the Cox plan should go farther and place a per capita tax of say $40 a head on all the people. This has been advocated also, and such a plan would be a great relief to the persons and corporations paying an excess profits tax. That is carrying Mr. Cox's ideas to the logical end. In America we have always avoided as much as possible, the head tax. Property has paid its greater portion. The founders of the republic were careful to plan that taxes should be equitably assessed. We have a patch work in our taxation plan now. What it needs is not more patches, but a new garment made of whole cloth. As the demand for more revenue grows, the tendency is to change the garment here and there and put on a new patch. We do need a thorough going over of taxation methods. The very fact that the suggestion of Gov. Cox has met with any approval from any source is an indication that the nation is open-eyed to some plan that will better our present tax conditions.

THE TEMPERATION OF MONEY IN CAMPAIGNS.

Money can be used legitimately in campaigns for any candidate without the suspicion of corruption of the voter or the misuse of a dollar. Argument for the election of a candidate through personal contact or the use of printed or written matter is not illegal or without results. It is thoroughly in harmony with clean election methods. But if a candidate should expend a sum for these things greater than the law has fixed as the maximum he would be technically guilty of violation of the corrupt practices act. There has never been a limit fixed for the expenditures of a candidate for president because it has been generally accepted as a fact that no man would ever seek the office as to bargain corruptly for it. But this year we have a different situation. The campaign for president as carried on by some of the candidates has taken on much the same flavor of bad judgment as the Newberry campaign in Michigan.

A large fund such as Senator Newberry's friends provided is a temptation to use money for no real purpose whatever. It is like a drunken sailor trying to get rid of a burdensome roll of hard-earned pay in a given time. Men were handed money just to give it away, and for no reason of expectation that the recipients would aid the Newberry cause materially.

The state of Michigan was filled with agents and traveling talkers and money handlers. We mention this because much of the same thing has characterized the campaign by the managers of Gen. Wood, according to the statements made in congress. An example of this lavishness was seen when the general started on his tour of Illinois with a special train of six Pullmans and a host of lackeys to keep him company. That he was greatly disturbed was to be expected after all the fire aimed at him in the last few weeks. So he sent most of the entourage, including the young lady stenographers, etc., home.

Gen. Wood has been making a long, hard fight for the nomination. He would undoubtedly make a good president. He has many high qualities that appeal to the citizens; yet if he is to be the victim of a management of the Newberry stamp in a pre-nomination campaign, he is making a sad and serious mistake. We believe most of the people would prefer a man who made a campaign without six Pullmans and 37 people, provided by an overzealous management possessed of an abundance of temptation money.

The election of Daniel Hoan to the majority of Milwaukee was not unexpected by those who have watched the trend of politics in that city since the war.

JUST FOLKS

Edgar A. Guest

GOOD TO BE IN THE WORLD.

It's good to be in the world just now.
With the blossoms back on the apple bough,
And the birds at home in the friendly trees,
And the sky as blue as the summer seas,
For man at the plow or boy at the plow,
It is good to be in the world just now.

It is good to be in the world, I say.
With the sunbeams warm where the children play,
With the smell of the new turned earth about,
And the tulips and hyacinths flashing out,
Surrounded by beauty and glad and vow,
It is good to be in the world just now.

Forgotten are lured and greed and lust
And the petty schemings of men unjust,
Forgotten the sneers of a thousand foes
And the griefs and cares which each mortal knows,
I say, as the breezes caress my brow,
It is good to be in the world just now.

New blossoms are nodding and smiling where
All has been barren and bleak and bare,
And the earth which has lived through its days of pain,
Has awakened to loveliness once again,
So our sorrow shall pass, though we know not how—
It is good to be in the world just now!

—Copyright 1919 by Edgar A. Guest.

In the first place Hoan is personally well liked. There is no great criticism of his administration and while the candidate against him was a popular man and had behind him the support of most of the business interests of the city he failed by enough to lose. After looking over the returns from Wisconsin and seeing the vote that came to the LaFollette delegates from many quarters it may be said that for once Milwaukee did well in keeping the Socialist majority to the low figure it did.

Japanese papers are repeating the story that American soldiers mutilated at Archangel. Notwithstanding categorical denials and proof that there was no mutilation, it seems this story answers the purpose of the Japs as an excuse for the soldiers of that nation not wanting to fight the Bolshevik army.

Now that LaFollette has won we may expect that France will demand that Germany shall cede Wisconsin to her as a part of the indemnity remaining unpaid.

We are unable to understand why handbills persist in working dangerous fields like Mexico and St. Louis, when Chicago, provides such immunity.

This day in 1788 Marietta, Ohio, was settled and the first outpost in the state commenced by a kinsman of Gen. Rufus Putnam, of Revolutionary fame.

From all the fighting and the quarrelling now on, it would seem that the olive peace branch was suffering from the deadly bolletinus.

Maybe if the Sultan would run for office on a platform to make the Sahara desert wet, he would be more popular.

"All this talk," said the great statesman, "about a revolution in Germany is nothing but a Ruhr back."

With Bryan out for Secretary Meredith, the presidential bee has got his stinger full.

Their Opinions

The La Crosse Tribune calls Hoover an old-style American. He's not that, for he is modern and up to the minute, with a knowledge of the wide, wide world few old time Americans ever had. Their again the old timer had a prediction for one particular political party.—Eau Claire Leader.

The vote of more than four to one by which the socialist members of the assembly were deprived of their seats was not taken in partisanship or in passion, in heedlessness or in haste. It was an American vote altogether, a patriotic and conservative vote. The 116 assemblymen who voted for expulsion rose above the strifes of politics. The majority of each party in this assembly voted in the affirmative upon the resolution to expel, except in the case of two of the socialist members where on the democratic side there was a slight balance in favor of readmittance. Democrats and republicans do not vote in that way when they are moved by partisan considerations. The assemblymen who voted to unseat the socialists were prompted by the same motive that arrayed the republicans of the house and of the senate in support of innumerable measures for the prosecution of the war, a war that was to be carried on by a democratic administration. In Albany, as in Washington, the legislators were thinking not of party but of nation, of the interests of the American people. The vote taken in the assembly yesterday was as clearly and demonstrably a measure of national defense as the vote of congress declaring war against Germany. And an immense majority of the American people will approve and sanction the assembly's action.—New York Times (Ind. Dem.)

Backward Glances

THIRTY YEARS AGO

April 7, 1880.—C. C. Cobb was elected mayor of the city at the election yesterday. He won from D. Davies by a majority of 419 votes. Other officers elected were J. M. Burgess, city clerk; J. M. Hasleton, treasurer; D. M. Hyzer, city attorney, and Alex. Denning, city sealer. The vote was lighter than it has been since 1877, only 1,373 votes being cast.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

April 17, 1890.—Although there were showers early yesterday morning, Easter Sunday, the temperature was warm and many people were out later. Special services were given at all the churches.—A young man, by the name of Carl Lee, raised an express order from $8 to $18 yesterday, but the fraud was discovered and the man is in jail waiting his hearing.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

April 7, 1900.—The vote in the city was light yesterday, the total being about 400 less than last year's. Little interest was shown and few of the offices were contested closely.—The officers elected were: James A. Fathers, city treasurer; Fred Burpee, city attorney; W. S. Jeffris, school commissioner at large, and Jesse Darle, justice of the peace.

TEN YEARS AGO

April 7, 1910.—A little colored girl, Cecil Wallace, daughter of Mrs. Wanater Wallace, who runs a boarding house on Pleasant street, was kidnapped this morning while her mother was lying sick in bed. It is thought that the father, who is not living with his wife, abducted her and is taking her to Toledo.

New Schools for Marines

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN, Director
Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau,
Washington, D. C.

Washington, April 7.—Are the young men of this country, who have ambition but not money, willing to break their way through a grueling education by spending two or five hours a day as soldiers, with the liability of active service in case of war?

That is the question which the United States Marine Corps is now putting to Americans. It has established at the Marine Barracks at Quantico, Virginia, a school known as the Marine Institute, where it is prepared to give men regular grammar school and high school education, and to teach them several highly paid vocations, such as automobile engineering, electrical engineering, stationary gas engine work, building, contracting and livestock farming.

Drill in Morning Only.
At this barracks it is an absolute rule that only the morning hours are devoted to military exercises, and all of the afternoon is spent in classes, and in athletic work. The routine is much like that of a college. Men are now offered enrollment in the fifth Regiment of Marines, which is the one stationed at Quantico. The school course is that after preliminary training at Paris Island, the recruit will be sent to the Quantico School, where he will be given a full course in the school which he has completed whatever course he desires to take, subject to the single condition that if the United States is at war, he may be assigned to active service.

Enlistment Opened April 1.
The opportunity for enlistment under the new plan was opened up to a contract with the government to give a certain amount of service in return for an education, began April 1. This Marine School is the latest of a number of efforts by the government to make military or naval service attractive to young men by giving them an education in return for their time. Both the army and navy have always had some classes where a man could spend a few hours a day and study in school courses. These schools never amounted to much, and they did not offer vocational courses. During the war, the military and naval departments, and since the armistice, the army universities in Europe, have offered men in the service much more varied educational opportunities. The government is now offering a man to remain in any of these institutions more than a few months.

The Marine School is a new department in the Marine Corps. In the first place it offers a man a complete course leading to a diploma, and in the second place it gives a definite promise that he shall be allowed to finish his education to his own satisfaction unless the emergency of war interrupts it.

The Marine Barracks at Quantico is under the command of Major General J. A. Lejeune and Brigadier General S. B. Butler. For this course of it we are indebted to Lieut. J. H. Craig, who is aide to General Lejeune, and who leaves no doubt that the Marine Corps is abating no expense nor effort to make this school a real school where a man can fit himself for the business of making a living. The school is not merely an effort to get men to serve in the Marine Corps in return for a certain amount of schooling; it is an effort to put the whole business of military service on a higher plane, and to attract to it a higher type of men.

Agreed That Corps Is Need.
It is agreed by all that the state of the world being what it is, we must have a considerable standing army, a large navy and a marine corps of good strength. It is equally clear to all that there is a strong sentiment in the country against compulsory military service. The alternative is voluntary enlistment. It is a notorious fact that men are not voluntarily enlisting in any branch of service in numbers. The marine corps has about two-thirds of its authorized strength, but both the army and navy are in worse condition. It is not surprising, then, from a civilian viewpoint, that young men do not rush into service. Most of them had

Beck Is Not Candidate
In Race for Governor

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
La Crosse, April 7.—Joseph D. Beck, Viroqua, has announced he will not be a candidate for the republican nomination for governor, thus narrowing down the field of progressive candidates to Gov. William W. Barr.

It is believed that Mr. Beck will be a candidate for the congressional nomination in the district against Representative John J. Esch.

Airship of Future to Fly, Float, Submerge

London, April 7.—The airship which will fly and, in fact, float and submerge is, in the judgment of Sir Fortescue Plantieri, "no impossible dream of the future." This statement is quoted from a speech made at a banquet held recently by the Society of Consulting Engineers of which Sir Fortescue is president. He added that some of those present might live to see this materialize.

Mantowoc.—Work of Scout Executive Frank D. Chadwick is bearing fruit, and eight troops have been organized here. It is expected that the movement will be in full swing before summer.

BILLY WHISKERS

FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

Billy just could not keep his eyes closed. He had to open them to look once more on Nanny's sweet, patient face. As he did so, he noticed that the moon was just rising, and as it came up, Nanny rose also stepping carefully so as not to waken her babies, she walked toward the fence where Billy was.

Closer and closer she came with her pretty, sweet face showing plainly in the moonlight. Billy scarcely breathed, he was so excited, wondering what she would say when she saw him.

"You are one of the lucky ones," he sobbed. "You are poor."

"How these things have hit the rich and the poor," she said. "I have to give up some of the luxuries to which I am entitled and to which I have been used. I have to give up the things that you have never had."

"The argument was unanswerable," she said. "I have to give up the things that you have never had."

Dinner Stories

Inebriated One, to local professor with reputation for great knowledge of everything.

After this had been repeated two or three times the professor replied:

"Train's actually in on time," exclaimed the dry-giving away to children. The thought of any men being able to tuck away only $280,000 as a result of his year's work filled his heart with anguish and despair.

"It's a tough life, being rich, and we have troubles enough without that."

"We ARE DOUBTED," E. L. W. of Larchmont writes in as follows:

"The other day you had in your column a story about a poker game on Long Island where one deal showed one man to have three aces and a pair of kings, the second man to have three aces and a pair of queens, the third man three aces and a pair of jacks. It must be you know very little about cards. There are no such things as three aces in this world with nine aces in it."

But we insist, brother, there were nine in this one. We are counting the way you dry-giving away to children. The thought of any men being able to tuck away only $280,000 as a result of his year's work filled his heart with anguish and despair.

THE PAINFUL FOREFOOT

Woman formerly had a monopoly on so-called Morton's affection of the forefoot, thanks to her fringed high heels and the pinching of the forefoot by her narrow pointed shoes. But of late years things mingling around in trousers and puttees belong to the female or unfashionable sex have disputed woman's monopoly of pretty shoes and of this painful forefoot affection, by wearing the dainty, high-heeled, pointed shoes which are to be distinguished from girls' stuff only by an expert. The narrow style shoes prescribed for these in military service prevent and cure this and many other foot ailments, but are not dainty and pretty enough for Percy and Cyril.

The first stage or type of painful forefoot occurs chiefly in young women whose high heels transfer too much of the body weight to the forward part of the foot and whose narrow, pointed shoes give insufficient room for the spread of the foot under that weight. Pressure upon the forefoot by the improper shoe therefore depresses the transverse arch made up of the small bones of the forefoot, and probably causes a severe, but not permanent, inflammation of the metatarsal bones. The characteristic complaint of the victim is sudden lancinating pain on a turning character felt toward the outer side of the forefoot and so severe that she is compelled to remove her shoe and rub the foot for relief. This happens again and again, as long as the misguided victim persists in wearing the heel shoes. It may be overcome by the adoption of some shoes of the correct type, recommended by the Y. W. C. A. council for women are good, and not in the slightest degree unbecoming to a young woman. The important characteristics of the shoe required are (1) straight inside sole line or slightly inclining sole; (2) reasonably broad low heel; (3) the shank to give the foot muscles a chance to get proper exercise in walking; (4) reasonably broad rounded soles and width at least equal to the width of the broadest part of the stockinged forefoot when the weight of the body is supported with the heel off the floor. A more advanced and serious stage of the trouble is characterized by more or less constant disability. This is seen chiefly in middle aged persons whose weight has increased to an excessive figure and whose feet have been misused by vicious shoes and unused for proper exercise through many years. Here the transverse arch is often really broken down, so that instead of a longitudinal crease in the sole there is a bulging there and often one or several painful calluses due to abnormal pressure. The treatment is more difficult. Great harm, sometimes irreparable harm, is done in such cases by the half-baked "foot specialists," so-called, exploited by the trade who advise for their glibly paid patrons. If the feet are of any value to the individual in an economic sense he or she should think well enough of them to consult a competent physician for such cases. The sex most liable to this trouble is light under a bushel, merely admitting, if you search him out, that he limits his practice to "orthopedic surgery."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Girl Smoking.
Please give such cases by the effect of cigarette smoking by girls from fourteen to twenty years of age. Is it a harmful habit to a woman to smoke that is to a man? (E. S.)
ANSWER—I do not know that it is more harmful to a woman to smoke than it is to a man. But a woman who smokes is a queer specimen of the sex. Most girls who smoke, she thinks it looks vampirish and naughty, but in truth she is merely making herself ugly.

Club Foot Not Hereditary.
I have clubfoot with which I was born. Would my children be likely to inherit clubfoot?
ANSWER—If the condition has occurred in others of your family, yes. If not, no.

BLOUSE IS CENTER OF FASHION STAGE

By ELOISE.

The garment which holds the center of the fashion stage today is the blouse. There is such a variety of styles, colors and materials that every woman can be suited. Those who prefer lingerie or plain cotton or silk tailored blouses may find any number of pretty ones. Those who like the beaded and embroidered georgette suit blouses have a huge variety of their own. And while those who go in for all of the newest fads will be enchanted by the new blouses which do not tuck in at the waistline.

These new blouses are made of tulle, tulle, tulle, satin, georgette, crepe de chine and other silks. Some of them are so elaborate and long that they are practically frocks. They also cost as much as some frocks for the price range is something like $15 to $35. Some have little shirred puffs, others end just at the waistline and others fall loose and unconfined from the shoulders. Here is an exquisite blouse for very informal wear at home. It is a truly beautiful artistic creation fashioned of silk crepe de chine. Huge satin flowers in applique trim the loose kimono sleeves and the lower edge of the blouse which hangs in points on either side. The neck and sleeves and flowers are outlined in wool embroidery. Such a blouse is more formal than the usual negligee and tea gown but it may serve the same purpose and is far more practical than either of the other types of robes.

The DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

JEAN SUCCUMBS TO THE SHARPS OF CUPID.
Woe is me, the spell is broken. I am once more furiously detached and back to normal, as far as my affections are concerned. Something told me that it was not in the nature of Lindsay to be a slave to passion very long. And yesterday I once more saw Jack through the cool eyes of a future wife that is, I saw him as he is, not as I had seen him. I have gotten a grip on my emotions again, and am all for being free as the wind.

I suppose it's quite natural, for three days of unbroken devotion, like three days of almost anything else, is apt to pall. Hence my changed opinion. I suppose I was quite right, for I did this afternoon, without interruption, enjoyed myself painting a still life just as a sort of calmer. And it's a pippen. At four o'clock Jean called up, and talked in a reproachful voice. I have been hiding for so long. I answered lightly enough that I had been enveloped in one of my moods for several days, hence my disappearance. It was a bit rough on Jack to be catalogued as a "mood," but there was nothing else to say at the moment. Jean lolled over to see me half an hour later, and to my astonishment announced that she, too, was a victim of Cupid. Imagine my feelings at those words if you can. Jean, of all people. Of course, like most of those "self-sufficient" women, she has fallen harder than any of us. Nay, truth to tell, my dear old Jean is positively a victim in her love. She glories in it, very much as the middle-aged ladies so despised by her were wont to do. There you are. Strangers to say, the object of her affections is a cut and dried business man, a lawyer, but as she assures me, a poet in lawyer's clothing.

Household Hints

not too close to edge, then in center, where pile slightly. Mix corn syrup, salt, lemon juice and spice and pour over apples. Dot with butter substitute, cover with paste, and bake.
Apple Meringue Pie—Line a greased baking dish with thin pie crust and sprinkle with one tablespoon lemon juice and three tablespoons sugar, mixing with one of flour. Bake in a moderate oven, and when nearly done cover with meringue.
To make the meringue, beat the egg whites until frothy, and add one level teaspoon of powdered sugar to each egg white. This should be beaten stiff and spread on the pie with a dull knife or spatula. The best way to have the meringue satisfactory is to spread it on the pie inside the oven and bake with the oven door open until a light brown. The meringue seems to be somewhat Build it is because too much sugar has been added or it is not baked long enough.
Apple Custard—One quart apple sauce, one-half cup butter, one cup

Brown Betty—Stale bread crumbs, butter, cooked sweetened apples, orange or lemon rind.
Place in a shallow pan two tablespoons of butter for each cupful of bread crumbs used, and toss the crumbs about in the butter until it goes and is far more practical than either of the other types of robes.
Sweet, cooked apples flavored with a little grated orange or lemon rind, then another layer of crumbs and so on until the dish is filled, having crumbs on the top layer. Bake in a moderate oven for half an hour and serve hot with cream custard or a hard sauce seasoned with nutmeg.
Singular Apple Pie—Four or five sour apples, one-half cup corn syrup, one-eighth teaspoon salt, three whole cloves or one-quarter teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon butter substitute, one teaspoon lemon juice.
Line pie pan with paste, pare, core and slice apples; put pieces of apples around plate in regular order.

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

A group of New York women have decided that even if women with the vote can not reform the world they can at least do a little bit of clean-up work in their own state. The New York State League of Women Voters with Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip as chairman presented a report and protest to Governor Smith which charges that patriotism is used to cloak propaganda which is a menace to the state and the country.

The report states that certain organizations and clubs with patriotic and high sounding names are nothing more than camouflaged committees.

I have been so terribly monopolized by Jack since I became engaged that it has become difficult for me to see my best friends. I don't like it at all.

That amazing girl then told me that although she loved Harvey (that's his name, Harvey Russell) she felt sure that she could never marry him—no, never. It was against all her principles. (Just as if principles have any more to do with the case than—than—well, trousers, let us say.) It was then my turn to give advice, and I did so. (Just as if I had been hiding for so long.) The same being the very last thing that a woman in love ever wants to have handed her, as I discovered.

How Jean did carry on. She has been over her feet by this new emotion—and I am a bit worried, for she is not by any means as calm and sensible where her affections are concerned as I am. She is apt to make a awful mess of things. And her Harvey was probably engrossed in some legal document, dry as dust, or in a grandiose scheme of the very moment that she was confiding her soul throbs to me. Ah, I know men and their dual natures. So will she shortly. I'm thinking. If one can still care for them after the discovery—then one really loves. Women just must have complicated thoughts on all subjects. Even their love affairs must have a twist, somewhere, to give them that perfect thrill. It's very feminine.

ODD BITS ABOUT WOMEN

Undaunted by the dangers she will encounter, Miss Helen Chobanian, a young Armenian Salvation Army worker, is on her way to Java, where she will work for the association among the lepers.

Miss Chobanian, who is at present in New York, has seen horrors in her native land, where she was a witness to the murder of her mother and father by the Turks. The girl escaped and was later taken to Paris by Mrs. Booth Hall—sister of Miss Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation Army in the United States.

Helen Hamilton Gardner, known in private life as Mrs. S. A. Day of Washington D. C., has been omitted by President Wilson to the committee of the civil service commission. Mrs. Day will succeed Charles M. Galloway of Columbia, S. C., who has been with the commission since last year after the president had determined to reorganize it.

Heart and Home Problems

By ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going with a young man of twenty-one to whom I was engaged. He was discharged from the army in July and I have kept steadily company with him since then until a few weeks ago. When he came home from the army I was going with another fellow. He always acted as if he cared for me and since he was the only child and didn't have to pay board at home he always had plenty of spending money. I can't say that I loved him. We were only good friends. He always filled his dates with me and was always on time. He never went with another girl. But he was never in the army and my sister didn't like him for that reason and made me quit him to go with the soldier.

I never cared for the soldier and promised to marry him to please my sister. I never could have a good time while with him. He was not the kind of man to marry and I wasn't ready to get married.

The other fellow is in California spending the winter. He has written me several times since we have quit, and I have answered but two of his letters. He tells me how homesick he is to see me and so on. He is coming back soon and says he wants to go with me. Do you think he cares for me, or do you think he is telling me things to get even with me for "quitting him"? Would you advise me to continue writing to him? He says he is lonesome and my letters cheer him.

How about your pocket money?

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Are beads considered good for trimming silk dresses.
ANSWER—Beads are very popular this season and would be attractive with silk.

Trail Pointer

How about your pocket money? Do you get some regularly? If so, do you know how to spend it? How much of it goes for waste, like cheap candy or unwholesome ice cream? Do you keep a record of it? A business man or a business woman, in a small way, must keep books as exact as those of a big corporation, only the sums are smaller. The business-like boy and girl will do the same with pocket money. It is a surprising thing how the mere keeping of accounts leads to thrift.

TROUBLED

You seem to care for the young man in spite of the fact that he did not go into the army. I think, therefore, that you should do as you please about continuing the correspondence, and also about receiving him as a friend when he returns to this city. He probably cares for you and has no spiteful intentions.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young farmer and going with a girl from the city. I love her dearly and she thinks a lot of me, but still she does not seem to like the thought of being a farmer's wife and she always advises me to find a position in the city. I think a farmer has the best chances to make a living. As I was born and spent my earlier boyhood in the city I am not such a stranger there. I like being a farmer better. What would you advise me to do, give up my city friend and look for a girl from the country that would make a good farmer's wife or yield to her wishes?

A YOUNG FARMER

Since your heart is in farming, try to make a success of your work and then ask the girl to marry you. If you make enough money to hire plenty of help and own an automobile, the girl will probably be willing to live in the country. You must make your own decision. If you care much for the girl that you cannot give her up, go to the city. But if you think you will be happier to give her up and stick to your farming, you should do that.

Dear Mrs. Thompson I am a city girl of sixteen summers, have dark brown hair, dark brown eyes and a rather dark complexion. I am considered the prettiest girl among all my friends. What colors would you suggest for me to wear?

SEVENTEEN

Wear brown, yellow, flesh color.

Tones of Crystal Purity

The secret of a favorite musician's charm does not lie in the bold primary tones of the voice or instrument. It is the individuality displayed in the control of subtle overtones which wins the appreciation of myriad music lovers.

When music lacks these delicacies, it becomes mechanical. But The Cheney mirrors the exquisite tones of the original reproduction in all their vibrant beauty.

The Cheney is a distinct acoustical achievement. Each instrument is finished in period design, perfect in craftsmanship.

"Y" CIRCUS EVENTS DRAW BIG INTEREST

Indoor and Outdoor Competition Fills Easter Week—All Ages Boys Benefited.

Indoor baseball, horse and hounds, riding, relay, pool and billiards mark the Easter vacation circuit being put on at the "Y" under the auspices of the boys' department. They are drawing considerable interest from the boys.

Yesterday a ball game was played between the Lions, captained by Griffith, and the Badger Sparks, led by Lewis, and won by the latter by the small margin of two runs, 3-1. This game will be followed by another to decide the championship of the "Y" on Thursday between the Cubs and the Badger Sparks.

Yesterday four hares, Jean Harvey, Raymond Pleison, Lester Bucholtz and Willard Austin, led the hounds three miles of the chasing around town and kept the pack off. Another chase will take place tomorrow.

4-Mile Relay. This will be a high school relay around the four mile bridge by two groups of 16 runners each man carrying a half mile paced by an automobile.

Thursday night at 7:30 a high school bowling tournament will be staged on the alleys. Thursday morning at 10:30 a general hike will be held to Crystal Springs.

Friday at 10:30 a bike hike will be pulled off to Beloit with lunch on the road and a swim at the Gateway city "Y".

Throughout the entire week, a high school pool and billiard meet will be held and for the grade schools ping-pong, carrom and cue-risque tournaments are taking place.

CHANDLER SIX

The Most Closely Priced Fine Car

We Let You Know What The Chandler Price Is

THE Chandler Motor Car Company, ever since the first Chandler Car was built seven years ago, has, in every advertisement issued to newspapers and magazines and all other forms of publications, stated the list price of the Chandler Car.

It states it now, and will continue to do so. There is good reason for this and many thousands of motor car owners know it. This is the reason—The Chandler Six is the most closely priced fine car in the whole medium priced field.

Look through the pages of this paper or a magazine that may be lying on your table. There are probably from ten to twenty automobile advertisements. How many name the price of the car?

True, the cost of automobile production has increased in the past year, and it is still increasing. But the Chandler Company, throughout 1919, with all its production greatly oversold, held to its price.

The Chandler Six of today is a highly perfected development of the Chandler Six of seven years ago, which started the trend toward lightweight sixes. All the engineering skill and production efficiency at the command of the Chandler Company has been devoted to this one chassis and that fact is one of the reasons for the Chandler's leadership in its field today.

All Chandler bodies are mounted on the one standard Chandler chassis. Simple, sturdy and dependable throughout, its features embrace, as for years past, the really marvelous Chandler Motor, solid cast aluminum motor base, annular ball bearings, silent chain drive for the auxiliary motor shafts, and Bosch magneto ignition.
